If so, according to our Quaker tradition, we need to proclaim this to ourselves and to the world. There was a sense of interconnection with all of creation.

Fellow Californian and member of Pacific Yearly Meeting, Friend Anthony Mar

We were beginning to understand that beyond politics and economics, our sense of compulsion to work on these issues comes from an enlargement of the traditional Quaker ideal that there is that of god in everyone, to the idea that there is that of god in. We are called to be faithful to continuing revelation in these matters, to be transformed in our habits as our hearts and minds are opened. Is my Meeting an isolated example of left-coast thinking, or are we Friends evolving as a whole?
